Our RAP's Cover Artwork

Chantelle Dwyer created the artwork that appears on the cover of our RAP for her major work for her HSC which placed second in the Sheila Mears Memorial Prize.

Titled 'Our Kids, Our Future' the painting tells the story of how traditional tribes would gather to meet, with the concentric circles representing the various tribes of the region, including the artist's tribe, the Gamilaraay people of the Northern Tablelands.

"Each tribe is linked by a pathway, and all pathways lead to a central meeting place which is surrounded by women, represented in the painting by the U shapes facing inwards" says Chantelle.

Reconciliation Australia's CEO, Karen Mundine

Reconciliation Australia congratulates Social Futures on developing its first Reconciliation Action Plan (RAP). By adopting an Innovate RAP, Social Futures is demonstrating its readiness to develop and test innovative approaches to reconciliation, and champion reconciliation at every level of the organisation. By making progress across the key pillars of reconciliation—relationships, respect and opportunities – Social Futures will take the necessary steps to achieve its goal of social justice for all, and a strong sense of community wellbeing.

Social Futures understands the importance of building and maintaining meaningful, respectful relationships with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples and organisations, in order to achieve mutually beneficial outcomes. This commitment is displayed in its actionable goal to celebrate and promote reconciliation focused campaigns and events such as National Reconciliation Week (NRW), and host its own NRW events.

Respect and understanding for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples, histories and cultures is key to Social Futures' core values. It champions these values by committing to invite Elders from the area to assist in naming Social Futures programs and services in local First Nations language(s).

Social Futures is dedicated to driving reconciliation through developing employment and training opportunities for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples. It demonstrates this dedication through its aim to update its staff induction package to include cultural awareness training.

On behalf of Reconciliation Australia, I commend Social Futures on its inaugural RAP, and look forward to following its continued reconciliation journey.

Social Futures CEO Message

Reconciliation is central in our work to achieve social change in regional Australia. It is part of who we are, it defines how we work and shows where we want to go. We respect the extraordinary knowledge and custodianship of Aboriginal people in the areas where we work. We are committed to action that promotes reconciliation with, healing and social justice for all Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people.

In this, the 50th anniversary year of the 1967 referendum, we look back on what has been achieved in our relationships with Indigenous peoples and acknowledge there is much more to be done to achieve true reconciliation.

Our Reconciliation Action Plan has been developed over the past two years, led by a dedicated group of staff who have met regularly to grapple with the issues. It outlines the real actions and measurable steps we will take.

The process has enriched our organisation and we are grateful for the enthusiasm, persistence and dedication of those staff. Equally we are grateful to Reconciliation Australia for their advice, guidance and support. Most of all, we are deeply grateful to the many Elders and Community members who have helped us, providing ideas, feedback and encouragement. You have been incredibly generous with your time, we are indebted to you all and we look forward to continuing our partnership towards reconciliation with you.

Tony Davies
Chief Executive Officer
Social Futures

Our Vision for Reconciliation

Our vision for reconciliation is for genuine relationships, strong partnerships, and connected communities between the wider Australian community and Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples. We acknowledge that access and connection to country, knowledge and community supports wellbeing. At Social Futures, reconciliation is everyone's business.

Our aim is to develop a RAP that is a document that responds to change and growth, that commits us to real action, by developing strategies for acknowledging and celebrating strength and resilience, and ways to improve our knowledge and understanding.

Through our programs and initiatives we will work with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities to:

- break structural cycles of inequality and injustice
- commit to employ, train and empower Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples
- welcome, celebrate and share our region's rich diverse cultures, histories and contributions
- provide services that enhance the wellbeing and safety of all children, families and communities
- strengthen relationships with and respect for Australia's First Peoples
- ensure meaningful inclusion in our planning and service delivery

We will know we have achieved our vision when we can show we are doing better to contribute to connected, active and strong children, families and communities.

Our Acknowledgment of Country

We acknowledge the Traditional Owners of the land where we live and work and their continuing connection to land, water, sea and community.

We pay respects to Australia's First Peoples, to their unique and diverse cultures, and to Elders past, present and future.

Our Organisation

Social Futures is a community-based not-for-profit organisation working to strengthen community wellbeing in regional NSW through the delivery of projects, programs and services in partnership with local communities, government and other community sector organisations and private sector collaborations. Social Futures has 24 offices located from Tweed Heads in the north, Bathurst in the south and west to Broken Hill.

In 2014, Youth Connections North Coast Inc. and Social Futures (then known as The Northern Rivers Social Development Council) merged. In 2015 we embarked on a strategic planning process which ensured the RAP was embedded into the organisational strategic plan. In 2016, we changed our name from Northern Rivers Social Development Council to Social Futures to better encapsulate our work and our values.

Social Futures works to achieve social justice in regional Australia by making a difference in people's lives; offering support to take control and live well.

Our services include:

- Support and capacity building with children, young people and families – through the Far North Coast Family Referral Service, Reconnect, Getting It Together, Links to Learning, Computer Clubhouse, Specialist Homelessness Services (Youth, Adult and Complex Needs packages), Communities for Children Young Parents program, Family Relationships Services, Standby Response Suicide Bereavement Service, Our Mijung Jarjums Kids In Mind early intervention mental health program, Homeless Youth Assistance Program, Youth On Track Program, headspace and family planning services.

- Research, innovation and community engagement projects, benefitting government, non-government and private sector, and local communities through housing and homelessness research, social inclusion research with children with disability, consultation with over 1,200 community members in the development of the first Australian Regional Social Plan, improving service integration and impact through facilitation of Care2Change Out of Home Youth Reference Group, Northern Rivers Housing Forum, Sustain Transport, LGBTI Ageing, Elder Abuse, and the Lived Experience Project which engaged a workforce of 30 Peer Workers with a lived experience of mental illness and recovery.

- As at 1 July 2017 Social Futures employs 148 staff, 14 of whom identify as an Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander person.

Our Reconciliation Action Plan

At Social Futures we believe that reconciliation is everyone's business. A significant proportion of people who access Social Futures' programs are Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander people. We recognise that Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people require Social Futures to be culturally aware and competent, and we are prepared to be held accountable to this. Social Futures wants to be clear about contributing to reconciliation with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people and being tangible and accountable about our goals and achievements. Our commitment to action is demonstrated through our staff survey which indicated a very high level of support for formalising and prioritising real action towards reconciliation.

The development of our RAP has been steered by our RAP Working Group which is made up of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander staff and other staff, from all levels of the organisation. The RAP Working Group has been meeting regularly to maintain focus on the development of strategies that will contribute meaningfully to reconciliation in our communities and our work. The group consists of our Chair, Programs Manager, Jennifer Parke; CEO, Tony Davies; Marketing and Communications Officer, Amanda Shoebridge; Board members Glenys Ritchie and Deb Stafford; Executive Manager Inclusion, Nicola Garnsey; Assets Officer, Gab Lavis; Infrastructure Coordinator, Kylie Maunder; Programs Manager, Ian O'Reilly; Reconnect & Getting it Together Manager, Sonya Mears-Lynch; Aboriginal Youth & Family Worker, Shaun Jones; Aboriginal Youth & Family Worker, Jenny Nichols; Aboriginal Youth & Family Worker, Gloria Torrens; headspace Aboriginal Youth Access Clinician, Paul Dooner; and Community & Family Programs Manager, Deb Hall. Six of the RAP Working Group members identify as Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander.

Our RAP Champion is our CEO, Tony Davies.

When our RAP is endorsed and launched, the RAP Working Group will continue to meet to ensure we deliver the commitments we have made in our RAP.

The journey of developing our RAP has included the following activities:

Reconciliation Activities:

- National Reconciliation Week events held for all staff showing films and sharing food provided by Aboriginal bush tucker catering.
- Local Elders were consulted about using language in our program names, and art work in our promotional material.
- Social Futures organises Young NAIDOC, now in its fifth year, where young Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people spend the day in workshops with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander mentors identifying their dreams and aspirations and what NAIDOC means to them. The event culminates in a parade before members of the public, family and friends.

- Participation in NAIDOC Week and Close the Gap day acknowledgements - staff are supported to attend and participate in NAIDOC week community events during their work time to join the celebrations and show their support for the local community.
- Aboriginal Artwork Procedure developed to ensure ethical purchase, use, display and acknowledgement of art work.
- All staff, management and Board members attended cultural awareness sessions.
- An Acknowledgement of Country is included at all internal meetings.
- A Welcome to Country is arranged for all large events and activities where people are being brought together.
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander flags are displayed in Social Futures waiting rooms and client meeting rooms.
- Promotion of local cultural events - our region has numerous Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander cultural festivals and events.

These events are communicated to all staff and where appropriate the opportunity to attend is supported.

- Sponsorship of small, local community events such as family days, and sports events.

RAP Development Activities:

- RAP Working Group conducted a staff survey to inform the RAP. All staff who responded to the survey indicated strong support for developing a RAP, improving engagement with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander stakeholders and the community, and increasing the number of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander staff and board members at Social Futures.
- Staff attended a workshop with Reconciliation Australia to access expert advice and guidance on the process of joining the program and developing a RAP.
- RAP Working Group meetings were held in Lismore and Grafton with local Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander stakeholders
- Members of the RAP Working Group attended team meetings across the organisation to workshop with staff strategies for the Plan.
- Rap Up! An internal publication with updates on the development of the RAP distributed to staff monthly.
- An expression of interest and sitting fee procedure was developed for recruiting Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander community members to join the RAP Working Group.
- The Lismore Aboriginal Interagency, Tweed Goori Interagency and Clarence Goori Interagency were consulted during the development of the RAP.
- An email signature acknowledging Traditional Owners was developed in consultation with local Elders and is now included in all staff email signatures.
- RAP focus at monthly Executive Team, Leadership Team and staff meetings as standing agenda item – this ensures staff throughout the organisation have had the opportunity to provide input into the development of the RAP at regular meetings.
- Social Futures participated in the 2016 RAP Barometer Survey and will use the results to track our progress towards reconciliation.
